Clark Properties Helps Reed Rubber Products to Expand at Union Seventy Center Business Park

July 1, 2013, St. Louis – Clark Properties is pleased to announce that Reed Rubber Products has expanded its business at the Union Seventy Center Business Park, a property development managed by Clark Properties. The move by the extruder of thermoplastic rubber profiles comes as a sizable investment that will include the addition of a new production line, giving the company a 20 percent increase in production capacity.

“Their new space is an excellent fit for Reed Rubber Products, and we are excited to aid in their future success,” said Mike Clark, President of Clark Properties. “It is impressive that Reed has seen so much success, while much of the economy still wanes.”

Reed Rubber Products moved to the Union Seventy Center Business Park five years ago. They outgrew the existing space over the five years and fortunately Clark Properties was able to provide a larger suite which will permit future growth for Reed Rubber Products. Only recently did the additional space become available at the
